

Update on Hurricane Dorian

Wednesday September 4, 2019

All departments are back to normal operation.

District Staff were able to keep the stormwater ponds low due to the limited amount of rain throughout the storm and all ponds are currently at control elevation or slightly below control elevation. Staff will continue to monitor the levels remotely and open the gates as needed.

The District's main irrigation pump station will remain on this week due to the wastewater treatment plant reuse system demands. The two other irrigation pump stations will remain off until irrigation demands change.
